Nathan reported on the anti idling campaign progress. The school students are making signs, and he's got six to post at school and poesy field, if he gets more he'll let us know and we can post. Letters went out in backpacks encouraging families to take the pledge -- so far, there are 20 houses that made pledges. Nathan has 5 permanent signs — he's going to put, and he'll send a picture of the sign to send to Mike Reino. Mike at the hardware store also confirmed that his landlord has given permission to post there and at Kathees General Store.

Keith confirmed that PACNJ (pediatric and adult asthma coalition) gathers asthma data, he will look to see if we can specific data on Frenchtown rates.

Leigh M reported on progress on creative team. The THAT tour kick off party is scheduled for May 5th at the Hunterdon art museum from 5 - 7, and over the weekend all of the studios will be open. Val put together a map of all of the participating studios and destinations, looking for volunteers to assist at the museum that evening. Over 20 artists registered. Margaret and Leigh need to regroup on next steps on the creative assets inventory.

Recycling yard team — Waiting for weather to improve to install infrastructure to organize materials. Mike R. wants surveillance cameras, he may get one from police department as they upgrade. Keith is interesting in finding ways to increase access to the yard for people, hours of operation, etc.

The Environmental Commission has asked the consultant to attend the next meeting to provide an update on the environmental resources inventory.
